

Other Bird Clubs Affiliated with the Minnesota Ornithologists' Union

Agassiz Audubon Society
Albert Lea Audubon Society
Audubon Chapter of Minneapolis
Austin Audubon Chapter
Bee Nay-She Council
Central Minnesota Audubon Society
Cottonwood County Bird Club
Duluth Audubon Society
 Fargo-Moorhead Audubon Society
Hiawatha Valley Bird Club of Winona
Jackson County Bird Club
Lakes Area Birding Club
Mankato Bird Club
Minneapolis Audubon Society
Minnesota Birding Network
Minnesota River Valley Audubon Chapter
Mississippi Headwaters Audubon Society
Northwest Minnesota Bird Society
Roseville Bird Club
Saint Paul Audubon Society
Southwest Minnesota Warblers Bird Club
Zumbro Valley Audubon Society

January 2006 revised

THE MINNESOTA ORNITHOLOGISTS' UNION

The statewide Bird Club for everyone who enjoys watching birds

If you want to learn more about birds in Minnesota, join the state's largest bird club.

Join the MOU!

The Minnesota Ornithologists' Union
J.F. Bell Museum of Natural History
University of Minnesota
10 Church Street SE
Minneapolis, MN 55455-0104

The Minnesota Ornithologists' Union

is the largest statewide bird club in Minnesota. The MOU welcomes everyone with an interest in wild birds.

1,400 members include amateur birders and professionals alike.

Some facts about birds in Minnesota

Almost two million Minnesota residents like to watch birds. Our state is a good place for this because of its unique geography. Here, western prairies meet boreal forests and southeastern river-valley ecology. This habitat diversity makes Minnesota an attractive place to many species of bird.

431 species of birds have been seen in the state, and of these, 313 are found here every year. About 235 species nest in Minnesota.

Our northern and east-central forest region is considered by leading ornithologists to be one of only four remaining areas in the United States where the long-term conservation of forest birds can be accomplished. The MOU is active in this conservation effort.

MOU on the Internet

On the Internet, take a look at the MOU's web site. It contains information about Minnesota birds and the MOU.

Web Site: <http://moumn.org>
E-mail: mou@moumn.org

- The MOU helps members find, attract, and identify birds.
- The MOU promotes the study of bird life and the preservation of birds and their natural habitat.
- The MOU co-sponsors many popular field trips to excellent birding areas within the state and in other parts of the country.
- The MOU participates in three major birding events each year: The April Salt Lake Birding Weekend in Lac Qui Parle County, Hawk Ridge Weekend in Duluth in September, and an annual one-day Minnesota birding conference held in December at the James Ford Bell Museum at the University of Minnesota.
- The MOU maintains the official state bird records file and checklist.
- The MOU publishes a quarterly journal, The Loon, and a bimonthly magazine, Minnesota Birding. These two publications keep MOU members well-informed on everything from identification and feeding tips to state bird population trends.

MOU Supported Hot Lines

Current information on birds being seen in Minnesota is available on the MOU hot lines, which are updated weekly:

Statewide 763-780-8890 — 800-757-3700
Duluth 218-834-2858

MEMBERSHIP APPLICATION

Name(s) _____
Address _____
City _____ State _____ County _____ ZIP _____
Phone (Optional) _____ E-mail (Optional) _____

Membership Categories

- Single _____ $25
- Family _____ $35
- Supporting _____ $75
- Corporate _____ $100
- Life _____ $500
- Youth (through 17) _____ $15
- Foreign (including Canada) _____ $30

Make checks payable to:

THE MINNESOTA ORNITHOLOGISTS' UNION

J.F. Bell Museum of Natural History
University of Minnesota
10 Church Street SE
Minneapolis MN 55455